Box2Nets is a small, free program that helps you create a network and add computers to it so that you can share files, printers, and other things on your network. It is similar to Carbon Copy Cloner in that it backs up your files (using a patented compression algorithm), then creates a new disk for the backup, and allows you to create a network using your existing PC and a few cables. Compared to a similar program, Box2Nets is smaller, simpler, and comes free.
